What?

Like a wardrobe full of clothes, LinkTailor is a virtual space where you can place applications, files, and websites – treating them as garments that you can style, tag, and organize into outfits for any occasion.

Why?

Keeping track of browser bookmarks, desktop icons, file system shortcuts and other “quick links” can be a frustrating task for computer users. LinkTailor was inspired by the desire to have a better link managing solution, one which allowed for easy adding of links to a spatially organized and customizable layout.
